

The New CEBS.

Four Letters That Make a Statement—Past, Present, Future.

Give yourself a competitive edge by learning about the important role of professional development and professional designations. Pursuing a CEBS designation should be your next step in your career development path.

A CEBS designation cements your place in the Community of Benefits Professionals, a diverse group of individuals who serve the benefits world in a wide range of job roles across all industries, employer types and sizes.
